Now. Then. And Tomorrow.

Taymar Brochure Holders, founded in Australia in 1982 by industry visionary Stephen Taylor, rapidly gained international acclaim for its innovative manufacturing strategy; 'one piece' injection moulded units.

This new solution provided lower cost products with greater in-built strength and durability than the 'bent and glued' acrylic leaflet holders available at that time. Today the company has a global outreach and has evolved into one of the world's largest manufacturers of injection moulded display components. The corporation has built an industry-wide reputation for deliverable quality with its 'Taymar' brand now widely accepted internationally as the 'gold' standard for leaflet/brochure holders.

The Taymar International head office is based in Artarmon in modern office and warehousing premises which service a large and ever-growing list of distributors throughout Australia. An autonomous European Division was launched in the UK in 1987 with just three key products and has since grown to be the Taymar group's largest satellite.

The organisation's reputation is founded on three fundamental commercial tenets: Service, quality and competitive pricing.

And its success has been underscored with world-class support for its key distributor network. The entire range of recyclable Taymar products is manufactured to the highest quality control standards. The company adds new products to the range each year (including the latest multi-tier and multi-purpose units) and continues to reinvest heavily in research and development.

Latest state of the art, robot-driven, multi-cavity injection moulding machines enable the company to maintain both quality control targets and a keenly competitive pricing strategy. Through its distributor outlets the company supplies a number of leading multi-national clients, including some of the world's top electronic giants and motor manufacturers.

The future looks clear for Taymar International with its stable and solid nucleus of regular customers.
